It is a good thing to know how to select food that will so thoroughly feed and nourish the body that there is no indication of hunger or faintness from one meal to another.

Grape-Nuts will carry the user longer, probably, than any other food known. A young lady attending business college writes:

"Before I began using Grape-Nuts I got so hungry before the dinner hour that I was faint and almost sick, but since I have had Grape-Nuts for breakfast I study harder, and wait longer for my dinner without experiencing any of the former trouble."

"One of the great advantages is that it requires no cooking or preparation. I wish everyone knew of the value of Grape-Nuts for children in school."

"There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

COLD WINTER ON THE WAY, SO JUST STOLE A HOUSE

When Edward Himmon, a boatman, left his one and one-half story frame building at the foot of Broadway street, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon to come to a meeting at the house, the building seemed perfectly safe out on the pier overlooking the river. When he returned early in the afternoon not a trace of the house remained but the stones and mortar which went to make up its foundation.
